“As a person of faith, what memories come to mind as you reflect on what giving has meant to you? As a follower of Christ in the world of things, how is your money used most effectively?”

THE BOOK: Jesus spoke about money more frequently than about any other topic except for his central theme, The Kingdom of God. This is a meditative review of what Jesus said about money. The reader is confronted by his humor, enlightened by his wisdom, and finds contentment while making the day-by-day decisions about money.

As men and women are involved in the ministry of stewardship, the many dimensions of that ministry are apparent in Jesus' teaching.

It is time to learn and understand what Jesus said about money. This book provides insights and encouragement for all Christians for whom money is a worrisome wonder.

REVIEWS: “We use Loyal Golv’s book for devotions for stewardship team meetings. They are excellent. We have found that they are also valuable in stewardship leadership development workshops. We recommend “Jesus Teachings About Money” as a required resource for all stewardship leaders who serve congregations.”
-Ed Kruse, Director for Stewardship, Evangelical Lutheran Church in America

“...Jesus talked a lot of about money. At no time did Jesus ever appear to be asking people for money to support a local synagogue or the Temple in Jerusalem or taking up an offering for people in need. The Gospels indicate that Jesus however connected money with life and with faith. Jesus was concerned about how possessions possessed people.

Loyal Golv gifts the church by giving us a book that focuses on Jesus’ Teachings About Money. This book is an excellent resource for anyone who desires to bridge the gap.”-Jerry Hoffman, Director of Center for Stewardship Leadership, Luther Seminary

THE AUTHOR: Loyal E. Golv served as a parish pastor in for over 28 years. Stewardship was a significant part of this ministry. For a decade prior to retirement, the ministry of stewardship became a full-time opportunity as a national staff member of the American Lutheran Church, later the Evangelical Lutheran Church in America.

Golv’s publications include The Cross and Crisis, Augsburg Sermons, and The Catechism and Creative Learning.
